WINTER 2017

Collies in Crisis Find Happy Ending

Abandoned, scared and pregnant, one-year-old collie mix Roma was rescued from the streets by Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA (PHS) animal control officers. Within days, two more pregnant and hungry collies arrived at the shelter. Although the dogs were found in different areas, the similarities were striking. All three dogs were approximately the same age, size, and breed, and were days from giving birth.

No one came forward to claim the collie sisters. Soon Roma and another dog had delivered 11 healthy puppies, but one of the collies was having trouble. Our veterinarian rushed to action and performed an emergency C-section to save the life of the mom and her pups.

Thirteen puppies survived and the young families were sent off to the safety of PHS foster homes. After eight weeks in foster care, the moms and puppies were quickly adopted.

Now eleven months old, the puppies are loving life. Koi was adopted by the Goldfield family who first saw her on the local news. Their 5 year-old daughter picked Koi out of the bunch and the family immediately fell in love.

"She is a wonderful addition to our family," writes Kelly Goldfield. "Koi is very loved and enjoys all the attention that comes from having a little one in the house."

The Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA would not be able to perform its lifesaving work without the support of generous individuals like you. Please consider fostering a pet or making a donation to help save more animals like the collie sisters and their puppies. Learn more at pasadenahumane.org.

Letter from President/CEO

I am so excited about the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA (PHS) and our plans to help animals in the future. For over 113 years we have been serving the Greater Los Angeles Area enforcing ordinances to ensure animals are not neglected or abused, rescuing animals that are lost or abandoned and educating the community on responsible pet ownership. We run a state-of-the-art animal shelter with housing and medical services for all types of animals and provide innovative services and programs to help people become responsible pet owners.

This is the year of collaboration for PHS. We will find ways to partner within the community with a goal of reaching more animals and people who need support. Our transfer program will take in more animals from higher volume shelters in an effort to find them new homes. We will connect with human service agencies to provide resources such as vaccinations, food and spay/neuter to their clients through our new Helping PAWS program. New monthly programs will give children the opportunity to learn about and connect with animals. The cities of La Crescenta, Altadena and unincorporated Pasadena will join our animal control family.

I hope you enjoy this edition of SCOOP. Our new newsletter will come to you four times a year and will provide updates on our programs, services and information about the amazing animals in our care. I'm hoping that it highlights your areas of interest so that you continue and even increase your involvement with PHS. Your support is the key to the growth of our services and makes all of our proactive programs possible. PHS is here to meet the animal welfare needs of all our communities, and with your help, we will make the community a great place for our four-legged friends. If you have any questions or would like more information about specific programs or services, please email us at hello@pasadenahumane.org.

This Magic Moment

Magic's winding road to forever began when he arrived at PHS as a one-month-old kitten in May 2016. He and his siblings were raised in a foster home, but he had a tough time gaining weight and growing strong. With intensive medical care, Magic began to flourish. He returned to the shelter and quickly found a new home. But after just two months, poor Magic found himself back at PHS when his adopter suddenly had to move.

What could have been a sad story turned into a fairytale ending for this special kitten. A month after his return to PHS, Danielle Bedics-Arizala spotted Magic's photo on our website and knew she had to meet him. It was love at first sight, and Danielle and her husband Octavio adopted him on the spot. "I could not have asked for a more amazing and wonderful cat," Danielle writes. "He follows me around the house, and at night he even sleeps at the foot of the bed. I'm so glad we adopted him! Some things are just meant to be."

Welcome the Wiggle Waggle Wagon

The Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA (PHS) is excited to welcome the newest addition to the fleet, the Wiggle Waggle Wagon (The Waggin'). This brand new, state-of-the-art vehicle is a 35-foot shelter on wheels that brings adoptable pets, services and information about PHS to the community. The new mobile unit comes fully equipped with space for 20 animals, nine volunteers, and modern amenities like a TV to showcase adoptable pets.

The Waggin' is best known in the community for bringing adoptable shelter animals to businesses and events around the Greater Los Angeles Area. Not only is this a great way for adopters to find their new pet, it also gives animals a chance to shine outside of the shelter environment.

Take Khloe, a 2-year-old beagle mix who was very fearful in her kennel. By the end of a mobile outing, she eagerly greeted visitors and showered them with affection. Her changed personality resulted in her finding a new home that very same day.

In addition to pet adoption, the Waggin' will help PHS connect to the community by increasing outreach opportunities such as vaccine clinics, pet food drives, and bringing information about the shelters programs and services to residents. The Waggin' will also be a mobile emergency response vehicle that can be stationed out in the field.

The Waggin' was made possible by generous donations from the Flora L. Thornton Foundation, Petco Foundation, and Wells Fargo Foundation.

To find out when the Waggin' will be near you or to schedule it to come to your community, visit pasadenahumane.org/mobilecalendar or email mobile@pasadenahumane.org.
